Welcome

Since its inception 43 years ago, it is clear there has never been a more important time for the Big 5 than now.

The construction industry is a cornerstone of the world's economy and influences many other industries since they rely heavily on buildings and infrastructure assets.

However, the industry is changing. It is only now that we are beginning to undergo a modern transformation bringing powerful benefits: for the wider society, the environment, and the economy.

The message from our Advisory Board members and many other leaders in construction is clear. The industry collectively needs the very best insight, direction, and inspiration that will help build the strategies to deliver future success for what is predicted to be a new era.

The Big 5 2022 will provide this vital platform, for the entire construction value chain to discuss these very issues, see cutting-edge technology in action, explore the latest products and solutions from over 2,000+ global exhibitors and meet firsthand with startups driving disruption and change.

I look forward to meeting you at The Big 5, from 5 – 8 December at the Dubai World Trade Centre.

Josine Heijmans

Vice President - Construction

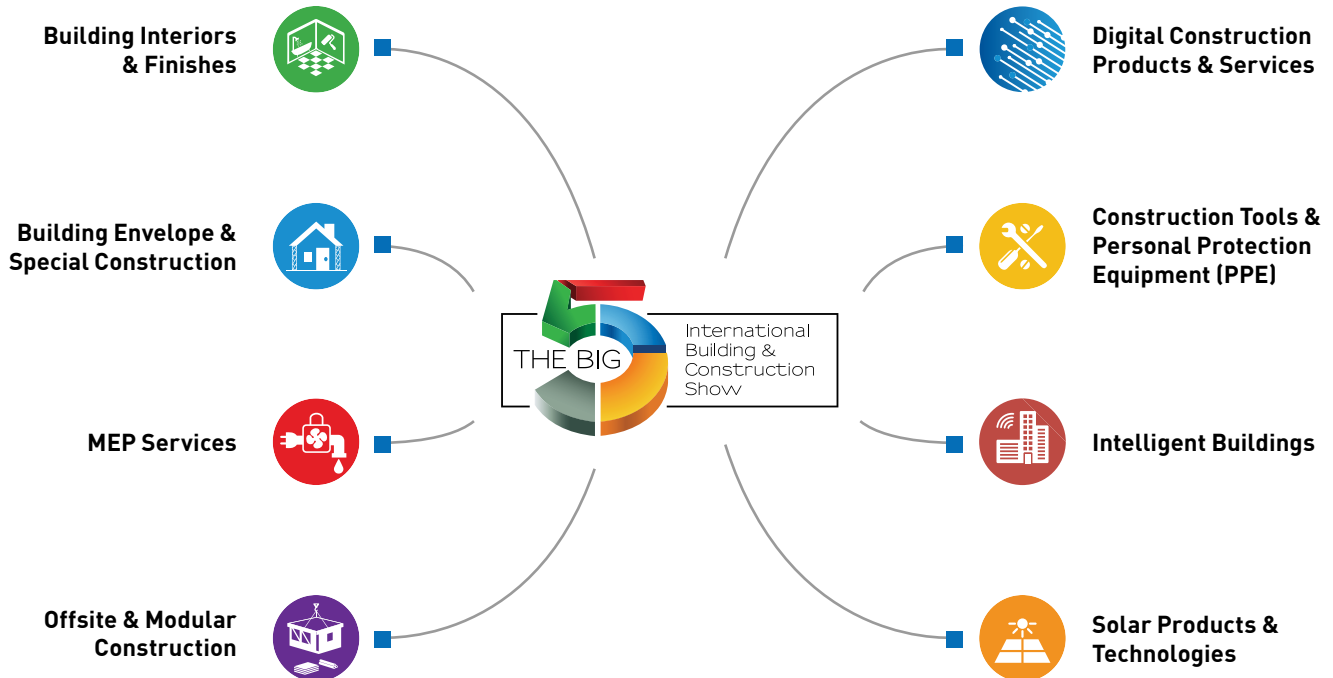

Not to be missed

- See cutting-edge technology at the Digital Construction World
- Meet with 50 startups driving change and transformation
- Join the discussion on an equitable and inclusive industry at the Women in Construction Forum
